Fifth Annual Conference of the Atlanta International Arbitration Society

International Arbitration in a “Flat” World:
Practical Considerations for Counsel and Their Clients

ATLAS

ATLANTA INTERNATIONAL
ARBITRATION SOCIETY

Add to
Calendar

Sunday-Tuesday, October 9-11, 2016

Topics:

- Still a non-flat, bumpy world? To what extent does the choice of seat among the world's top arbitral venues still matter?
- Diversity in arbitral appointments: What can or should be done to flatten the playing field?
- Ethics in international arbitration: How far can or should soft law guidance on party representation go in flattening the playing field between counsel from different legal cultures and jurisdictions?
- The use of technology in cross-border dispute resolution: Enhancing the efficiency and accessibility of international arbitration?
- The backlash against TPP, TTIP and other manifestations of a flat world: Implications for international arbitration.
- The rise of third-party funding: Effectively flattening the playing field between haves and have-nots?
