International Business Disputes in an Era of Receding Globalism

- Will the push or pull of nationalist sentiments affect where and how businesses resolve cross-border disputes?
- Might the relationship between national courts and arbitral tribunals shift?
- Will the backlash against globalism encompass or impact the world of international arbitration?
- What is the future of investor-state dispute settlement?
- How might tighter immigration controls impact international arbitration proceedings?
- Will there be fewer players in the competition among jurisdictions positioning themselves as the most cosmopolitan and friendly to international arbitration?

Confirmed Speakers Include:

- Lord Peter Goldsmith (London)
- Charles Adams (Geneva)
- Dominique Brown-Berset (Geneva)
- Brent Clinkscale (Greenville)
- Jose Feris (Paris)
